Introduction

I decided to release this book of poetry believing that people right now, are in need of words to calm the heart giving an emotional refuge to each, where only they know what they need at the time.

These poems, in which both speak of love and while it does lack in our lives, we sometimes just do not know the right word we need to hear. Hence, we rushed to cling to books of poetry, music and many others. However, these people end up getting one in your world full of lovers.

This copy comes just bring guidance to the lives of readers with poetry in several different ways. This is my first book of poetry, in which I intend to act in accordance with the reflection and interaction of each reader to the author. Enjoy it!

Don't Cry

The time is coming,
destiny pushes me
and distance from you but my love is strong and true...

Do not cry,
the reason that distances me from you absent our eyes
may be brief...

Do not cry,
my heart will learn fancy ways of loving return for a passionate...

Do not cry,
your absence hurts
Your love is beautiful and I know I'll be back...

#I #LoveYou

I know it's obvious, it is love.
the difficult thing is to take you from the heart,
even though I want to live without you
I cannot, your love consumes me.

I am here loving you, no answer without the love I need, it does so know I want you too, I'm so much more than hi, a hello or simple, okay?

I want to feel you, touch you, and if possible, kiss, Knowing you, what I feel is real,
give me thy bosom, for I will only be happy with you.

I without you, I feel, has no value,
Today I suffer without you, without your love...
I know you do not have eyes for me, so...
I live in a martyrdom endless!
